Table tennis game rules wikipedia

Second half of 19th century
Table Tennis was invented by the English Upper Ten, who brought their favorite outdoor sport in miniature edition in their salons for bad weather.1890Sgineer James Gibb brought the celluloid ball from America to Europe. The ping-pong sound emerged as an acoustic icon.1899The foundation of the first German table tennis club (Ping-Pong-Club Berlin).1901The first announced tournament takes place in London.1902When a moderately good player got a headache during a tournament and bought pills in the pharmacy, he noticed how high the coins bounced on the rubber mat. He bought it, cut it, stuck it on his racket and reached the final. The bat with pimped rubber was invented.1925Repurement of the DTTB and the first German championships.1926First World Cup and creation of the ITTF.1936Establishment of uniform rules by the ITF.1950The Japanese achieved extreme speed with the use of foam on their rackets. The rubbers were first banned by the ITF in 1959 and later re-approved under certain conditions (with a thickness up to 4 mm, top covering without foam).1987table tennis is olympic. We've summarized USA Table Tennis's essential ping pong rules here to help you settle those garage or office disputes. This list is not exhaustive, but we have found that these are common points of contention among many players. Whether you call it ping pong, table tennis or whaft, these official table tennis rules should help you keep things straight.1. Games are played up to 11 pointsA Game is played up to 11 points. A game must be won by two points. A Match is generally the best three of the five Games. 2. ALTERNATE SERVES EACH TWO POINTSEvery side of the table alternates two points at a time. EXCEPTION: After a 10-10 draw (deuce), service alternates at each point. Can you lose on a serve in ping pong? Yes! There is no separate line for serving on Game Point.3. TOSS THE BALL STRAIGHT UP WHEN SERVINGHow do you serve the ball in ping pong? Keep the ball in your open palm, behind your eye of the table. Toss at least 6 straight up, and hit it on the way down. It will be off your hit side of the table and then the other side. NOTE: As soon as the ball leaves the server's hand, it is in play and counts as the receiver's point if the ball is missed or hit incorrectly. 4. THE SERVE CAN LAND ANYWHERE IN SINGLESEE is no restriction on where the ball lands on your side or your opponent's side of the table. It can bounce two or more times on your opponent's side (if so, that's your point), bounce over the side, or even hit the edge. 5. DOUBLES SERVES MUST RIGHT COURT TO RIGHT COURTThe serve must bounce in the court of the server, and judge judge of the receiver (NOTE: landing on the is fair). Doubles partners switch places after their team serves twice.6. A SERVE THAT HITS THE NET ON THE ROAD OVER IS A LETCAN THE BALL hit the net in ping pong? Yes, during a if it hits the top of the net and otherwise lands as a legitimate hit. But not when serving. If a served ball hits the net on the road over and otherwise legally bounces into the game, it's a let serve and is done over. There is no limit to how often this can happen. 7. ALTERNATE HITTING IN A DOUBLES RALLYDoubles partners must alternately hit balls in a rally, no matter where the ball lands on the table. 8. VOLLEYS are not allowed Can you hit the ball before it bounces into ping pong? No. In regular tennis you volley the ball (hitting the ball before it bounces on your side of the net). But in table tennis this results in a point for your opponent. NOTE: When your opponent hits a ball that sails over your end of the table without touching it and then you or your paddle hits, that's still your point. 9. If you hit bounces back over the net by itself it is your pointIf you hit the ball in a rally or on a serve and it bounces back over the net after hitting your opponent's side off the table (due to extreme spin), without your opponent touching, that's your point.10. Touching the ball with your paddle hand is allowedWhat happens when the ball hits your finger or hand during a ping pong rally? If the ball hits your PADDLE hand and otherwise results in a legal hit, there is no rule violation and play will continue as normal. Your paddle hand contains all the fingers and hand area under the wrist. But what if the ball hits a player's body somewhere else during a ping-pong rally? You may not touch the table with your non-paddle hand for any reason. If by your opponent's hit sails over your side of the table without touching it, and his part of you or your paddle, that's still your point.11. you may not touch the table with your non-paddle hand!Yeah you touch the ball or the table with your paddle hand (after you have reached to return a shot shift, for example), or other parts of your body. NOTE: If the table moves all the way from you touch during a rally, that's your opponent's point. 12. A edge ball bouncing from the horizontal table top surface is goodAn otherwise legal serve or hit can contact the top edge of the horizontal tabletop surface and be counted as valid even if it bounces sideways. The vertical sides of the table are not part of the legal playing surface.13. HONOR SYSTEM applies to disagreementsIf there is no referee present during a match and the players disagree on a particular call, the honor system applies and the players must find a way to agree, or lose the point. Ping pong carries a tradition of fierce but fair play. Help us keep it that way! For the full official rules of table tennis, visit USATT.org. This has multiple problems. It was founded in Argentina in 2010, but has also been officially played since 2013 in Norway and Uruguay. In addition to the official venues where regular tournaments are held, there are some special one-off official tournaments held in Guatemala, Brazil, France, the Community of Madrid, Basque Country and Wales, the latter as part of the World Alternative Games 2014. [1] General characteristics The game According to its rules,[2] pingpong encourages creativity and the personalization of the sport by its players. So there are no fixed rules, but a general framework is established by the official rules themselves, which states as follows: All that is not ping pong is ping pong with obstacles. This sport can be played with or without a table, net, ball, as long as something goes from one spot to another, and an objective scoring system and a way to win a match are established. The table and net Pingpongo table in Fotballstien[3] Oslo, Norway. June 2014 Pingpongo has no rules for the size of the table or the net, nor for their existence. There is only one recommendation that if using a table (or tables) for playing with a bouncing ball, surfaces should allow the game to have certain continuity regardless of their irregularities and the resulting unpredictable trajectory of the ball. In any case, the table should pose similar difficulties for all players. During official tournaments, matches were played on conventional table tennis tables, festival tables, groups of small bar tables, on tables consisting of wood from old public benches and even on signs propped up on trees. Details of pingpongo obstacles, table and net used during the special official tournament posted in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. July 2014 [4] Paddles and balls The paddles and balls to be used also depend on the variety previously agreed for of the match or the tournament. In the classic variants of ping pongo traditional paddles and ball of ping pong are used. Obstacles Obstacles can be tangible or elusive. Pingpongo has the promoting dialogue and consensus. Each obstacle must therefore be determined by mutual agreement between the players of a particular match or tournament. The number of obstacles that can be used is infinite; therefore pingpongo is a sport with an infinite number of game variations. Any type of obstacle to be used during official events must be approved by the PPOB earlier. Although the rules are very tolerant and allow creativity at all times, when practicing pingpongo officially the use of animals as obstacles is not allowed, nor are: smoking, making Nazi comments, or any form of expression, or using cell phones during competitions. In Norway, the organisers of each official tournament are more likely to define the conceptual framework in which the material and mental obstacles, communication and decoration of the event will be established. So, there were tournaments where material obstacles ranged from chess pieces to images projected onto the table, and the mental obstacles went from paying compliments to the opponent when hitting the ball to singing Happy Xmas (War Is Over) by Yoko Ono and John Lennon non-stop while listening to it with headphones throughout the match. Material obstacles Some of the most commonly used material obstacles in Argentina are Rubik cubes, plastic building blocks and jenga pieces, as basic obstacles, placing one, two, or three on each side of the table (the same number on each side). Other material obstacles used sporadically are salt pellets (in Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil). These obstacles are evenly distributed on both sides of the table and they stand out by increasing the unpredictability of the ball's trajectory. In Norway, each tournament is developed with respect to one or more topics, and all material obstacles are chosen to emphasize them. Other common obstacles include: beer bottles, cups, framed photos of Carlos Gardel, footballer's figurines, toy football goals, toy animals, plates with the sums spent to host the Olympics and plastic cups. In some tournaments, players can add their own material obstacles. In November 2014, several of these material obstacles were featured in a show called memoria futura (Future memory) at the Centro Cultural de España in Montevideo. Exhibition organized by antipodes café with cooperation of the Uruguayan Association of Pingpongo, AOPPO Asociación Oriental de Pingpongo con Obstáculos. Mental obstacles The purpose of these obstacles is to create a scenario in which players divide their performance between material and intangible. For example, by answering questions, mentioning things as you hit the ball (landing, flowers, compliments, etc.), singing songs or conversation. The match matches are usually singles, but pingpongo can be played in teams. There is no differentiation by gender or age in pingpongo; therefore, both men and all ages can play as equals in the game. The game came out similar to traditional table tennis, which means a player gets a point when the opponent fails to stop the ball from bouncing twice on his side of the table or returning it from the other court. However, because the rules are set for each match or tournament, different ways of scoring and winning matches can be set. Variations are infinite, but each rule to be applied to the game is previously agreed upon by the players of the match and/or the tournament, and in the case of official events, the rules must be previously checked by the Board of Directors of Pingpongo (PPOB, the world-class pingpongo authority). Length of the game In general, the match or set ends when one of the two players reaches 7, 11 or 15 points, as pre-agreed, thus gaining a lead of one or two points. When both players are even up by 6, 10, or 14 points apiece, they will play consecutive points (where each player will serve once per point in his turn) until one of them wins by a two-point difference. This may vary depending on the variation. For example, in the football variation, when both players are even one point at the end of the series or match, the definition is made by penalties, which implies that each player hits the ball with his paddle sending it to the other side of the table trying to put the ball through a small goal set for that goal. Depending on the competition and the stage it is in, a match of pingpongo can be played to the best of 1, 3 or 5 sets. Service Service is done freely and decided by both players before a match. The most common serve is the same as in table tennis where the ball must bounce first into the side of the table and then on the receiver one. An error in service gives a point to the opponent, this can happen when the ball hits the net, bounces on the court of the server or on one of the obstacles of the server and does not pass to the court of the opponent, or if it does not bounce on the court of the opponent. If the ball hits the net at the service and is declared on the opponent's field, the service is again performed. . Each player serves two consecutive points, after which the opponent serves. If the match is 11 points and both players score 10, each player serves once until the game ends with a two-point lead for one of the players. The same thing happens when the match or set is for 15 points and is tied at 13. Players can switch fields every six points. Referees During official ping pong tournaments, the umpire or umpires may be the players themselves, the event organisers or the public. Present some matches obstacles requiring the participation of more than one umpire. For example, if the mental hurdle during a match is that the players name a flower every time they hit the ball with the paddle, and if they fail to do it they lose a point, it will be necessary to add one referee per player to keep track of this rule. Players can agree to manage without referees and the contest itself. Each official tournament of official venues must have one manager responsible for tracking match results, which will later be sent to the PPOB for the ranking. Each special official tournament must have at least one member of the PPOB, who can participate in the tournament, act as an umpire or supervise only. Variations A section of the official rules states that a variant of ping pong can be used as official as long as it has been agreed before each tournament or match between participants. Also, when there is a dilemma about a formal aspect of the game, the goal is to always choose the option that creates more dynamism and entertainment for the players and the audience. [2] Although there are an infinite number of variations, there are some already in use or recommended by the PPOB, and which can be used simultaneously: Conservative variation: Three small obstacles per set, set by each player on the opponent's court after strategic reviews. Once placed, they cannot be moved except unintentionally. Sailed variation: The PPOB supervisor or umpire distributes equal amounts of salk on each side of the table. Questions kamp. Answers: Every time a player hits the ball, an element that belongs to a particular topic must mention. Glass (cup) variation: A plastic cup is placed in the middle of each side. If a player dunks the ball in the glass and does not fall over, he/she automatically wins the match. Structural variation: The surface of the table has changed, it may be an irregular surface or completely different from the surface normally used for table tennis. Jenga Pingpong. Ten jenga pieces are placed, vertically, on each side. A point is lost for every piece that is toppled. History The origin of Pingpongo is dated December 2, 2010, when members of Bola Sin Manija, an Argentine independent group of critic and promotion of alternative sports [5] established the Asociación Argentina de Pingpongo con Obstáculos (Argentine Association of Ping Pong with obstacles), defining the first rule guidelines and first official tournament of this sport. Norway was added as the official location in August 2013[6] and Uruguay the same year in September. In Norway, tournaments are basically played in Oslo, both in public and private indoor and outdoor areas, but in 2014 one official tournament was developed in Longyearbyen, Svalbard. In addition to the official venues where regular tournaments are placed, special official tournaments have been placed in Guatemala (2012), Brazil (2014), Wales (2014), the Basque Country (2014), Community of Madrid (2014) and France (2015). As of today, more than 500 people of more than 30 nationalities have officially played this sport. In 2013, after Norway and Uruguay locations, AAPPO established a global on-line board of directors, called AAPPO-Board, which in 2014, in consultation with the rest of the official locations, changed its name to PINGPONGO BOARD or, or we can find various artistic variants of table tennis, such as those created by George Maciunas or later by Gabriel Orozco, as well as popular changes such as Bierpong or Slam pong, but not of them constitutes a sport with an international independent organization that defines rules, rankings and official regular activities. [8] But all members of the International Council (PPOB) agreed that the sport exists from the beginning of existence. [9] Pingpongo Board The Board of Directors of Pingpongo (PPOB) is the authority that governs the development of Pingpongo in the world at official level, defines the basic rules of the sport, executes its World Ranking in its two variants and supervises all official tournaments, whether in special or official locations. It is composed by the founding members of the AAPPO, and by a maximum of two members of each official location. Any country interested in being an official venue or in organizing an official special tournament must contact PPOB via email and then maintain an open communication, basically on-line. Classification or ranking There are three official rankings: Local Rankings, Biennial World Ranking (2014-2015, 2016-2017, etc.) and Historical World Ranking. Both world rankings are updated by the PPOB the week after an official tournament takes place. Distribution of points The points awarded by tournaments for each position correspond to a uniform system set by the PPOB in relation to the number of tournament participants. Example of the distribution of points in relation to the number of participants in direct elimination tournaments: Participants W 3º 4º QF R16 R32 32 160 96 64 40 20 1 23 20 115 69 46 28 1 or 14 () 16 160 80 48 32 20 1 - () In any case, when losing the first match, in the first or second round , the participant gets one point. In the case of advancing to the second round after winning a game during the first round, the player gets the corresponding points, which in this example for 23 participants would be 14. A Round-robin tournament defines points for each match won. In Pingpongo, these points are determined by the total number of the tournament (which is the same as the number of players multiplied by 10) divided by the number of matches to be played by all players in the Round Robin series. A Round-robin tournament can help, for example, define four finalists or just the two finalists who receive points according to the previous table of elimination tournaments. A Round-robin tournament helps players to play more and have more chances to advance to the final. For example, this system is used in the FIFA World Cup. Historical World Ranking Historical Classification includes all official tournaments played since origin the Argentine Association of Ping Pong with Obstacles (AAPPO). It will be updated during the week in which the official tournament takes place. Official special tournaments do not allow a local official ranking to be held. Official special tournaments were played in Guatemala (2013), Brazil (2014) and Wales (2014), the latter of which took place at the 2014 World Alternative Games in Llanwrtyd Wells, the smallest city in Britain. Of the 32 participants, 29 were local, which would be almost 5% of the city's total population. Another curiosity of this tournament was that it was both the oldest player ever (79 years old) and the two youngest (seven year old twins who between them in the very first official match between twins). No ping pong tournament asks for a registration fee for participants.
